The Beach Coast of South Carolina Awaits You

This year the National Citizens Police Academy Association will be hosting their 19th Annual Conference in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina on April 24-27, 2017. We are excited to be returning to South Carolina and this beautiful coastal location! We hope you are making your plans now to attend!

If you have a citizen's academy or your agency is planning on starting one, this conference is for you. The NCPAA offers a Citizen's Academy Coordinator National Certification course that deals with those issues. For already certified coordinators we offer an update recertification course. We will have several classes dealing with citizens academy and alumni issues.

We are working hard to bring you more information to take back and share with your agencies, academies and alumni groups. This conference is the perfect opportunity to enhance citizen's academy efforts, develop resources and expand knowledge through an intensive schedule of breakout courses, specialized training and networking opportunities.

Classes are in the process of being planned. We will have a wide array of topics that will prove to be informative and interesting for all attendees. We will send out periodic email updates to you regarding the conference courses and activities as details are confirmed. We also encourage you to register for the early bird conference rates prior to January 15, 2017.

Besides the excellent training this year, there will be plenty of after conference hours activities to enjoy. Nearby shopping outlets and of course the beach area to relax are just a few of the many places to visit.

Please continue to check our website with our new website address at www.ncpaa.us, for up to date information on the conference and additional class topics as they are added.

The NCPAA Board of Directors wish you a safe holiday season and a blessed prosperous New Year!
